

Climate Ready Technical	Application No: No: 20200303001742_9634
INTRODUCTORY LANGUAGE
The SA Climate Ready Climate Action and Adaptation Plan (CAAP) is San Antonio’s a roadmap to reduce carbon emissions, adapt to a changing climate, and ensure San Antonio remains a healthy, vibrant place for generations to come.
The Technical and Community Advisory Committee will advise City staff and City Council on the implementation of the CAAP, and other associated long-term sustainability plans, such as the SA Tomorrow Sustainability Plan, while serving as a forum for the community to offer input on climate action and sustainability.
As the CAAP is centered in equity and diversity, membership in advisory committees shall represent those that live and work within the City of San Antonio, inclusive of indigenous persons, communities of color, low-income residents, LGTBQIA+ persons, persons of varying ages, persons with different abilities, and other marginalized communities who hold diverse expertise, identities, and/or perspectives.
The City of San Antonio, through the Office of Equity, has made a commitment to advancing diversity, equity and inclusion in local government in all of its Departments. Equity means that our policy-making, service delivery, and distribution of resources account for the different histories, challenges, and needs of the people we serve. The Office of Equity is a citywide office focused on advancing social equity within City Government, to help reduce and ultimately eliminate disparities experienced by our most marginalized San Antonio residents, and the Office of Sustainability will continue to collaborate with them on the CAAP.

Please provide a brief summary of your expertise and/or perspectives.	My expertise in relation to the Climate Action and Adaptation plan is based on several roles I have had in my career that include: manager of the Monarch Butterfly and Pollinator Festival, Montessori Certified Educator and Health Educator. First, and that which has the biggest impact on both my expertise and perspective is Manager of the Monarch Butterfly and Pollinator Festival. In this role, I engage with many public (SARA, SARF, SAWS, WHO, CPS and others) and private (SABOT, NWF, HEB, UNAM, and others) organizations throughout San Antonio and in Mexico and Canada (Canadian Consulate), to create programming to educate people about pollinators, how they make 1 in every 3 bites of food possible, and how they are being affected by climate change. We do this through over 15 events throughout the city with 3 main events including Butterflies without Borders: Migration and Immigration in a Changing Climate, a food to plate dinner and educational event, and a large educational festival with over 20 non-profit, educational partners. All of these events qualify as a Verde event (we found out this year) and we promote sustainability through modeling and education at all of our events. Most importantly, this work keeps me at the forefront of information on how climate change is directly affecting pollinators' life spans, and their ability to thrive and lead healthy lives. This, in turn, has a direct effect on humans and the ecosystem we share. As a result of this education, I believe making changes to reduce our carbon foot print is of the utmost, urgent importance not only for humans, but for all forms of life. While making an effort to reduce carbon emissions, we must also accept that climate change is a reality and adjust accordingly. My other two roles in education support my perspective that education is the number one way to elicit behavior change and that appropriate changes and adaptations require an educational component to the community.

Please provide a description of your professional, educational and community/volunteer experience.

Professionally, I have worked in several industries throughout my career. To highlight those related to this board, I have worked in health education as an educator, as an elementary educator, food entrepreneur, volunteer for Food Policy Council, and Manager of the Monarch Butterfly and Pollinator Festival. Educationally, I have a degree from Southwestern University where I majored in Kinesiology and Minored in Biology and Psychology. I am an upper and lower elementary certified Montessori School Teacher and a recent graduate of the Break Fast Launch food entrepreneur program through Launch SA. I was a health educator with the San Antonio based organization Social and Health Research Center, Bienestar. The Bienestar/NEEMA is Texas Education Agency-approved and recognized as a Successful Strategy by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality and as a Research-Tested Intervention Program by the National Cancer Institute. It is the only bilingual coordinated school health program. In my time with Bienestar, I worked as an educator at SAISD schools and taught lessons on exercise and nutrition to elementary children in South and West San Antonio. I am grateful for this work and continue to carry with me the value of education and its ability to change behavior, especially at a young age. I also developed an awareness of food deserts and lack of education about healthy choices in diet. Though, oftentimes, these choices are made as a result of lack of accessibility to healthy food. While working on a project to start a food co-op in 2019, I spent several months attending the Food Policy Council and educating myself about food accessibility, especially local produce. During this experience I served on the Farmers Market and Food Access Group and volunteered at Eco Centro. I also completed the Break Fast Launch Program through Launch SA and made many connections in the San Antonio food industry while learning about the many food deserts in San Antonio and the immense challenges we overcome to put food on our plate. Most recently, I became General Manager of the Monarch Butterfly and Pollinator Festival based out of San Antonio as described in the first question. This experience has had a profound effect on my concerns about climate change and belief that change must occur to offset and adapt to the world we live in.

As a hispanic woman who was the first in her family to graduate from college, I feel a responsibility to work for those who may not have the same opportunities I have had. I feel an innate desire to serve my

Please share your interest and commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues.	community and to work hard to create a better world for everyone, regardless of class, race, or sexual orientation. Aside from my perspective based on my sex and culture, my personal values encompass the idea that one should take action against that which is an injustice. For example, the co-op grocery store project mentioned above was inspired by learning that many areas of San Antonio have food deserts, primarily in low income areas. I went to work trying to find a way to serve the east-side community by having an app-based component to grocery delivery with a hub on the east side. Though the co-op grocery store never came to fruition, the idea represents the passion I feel to help those who may not have the means to help themselves. When it comes to climate change, my team and I are actively working on increasing our pollinator garden initiative to SAISD elementary schools so that all children may have the opportunity to engage first-hand with butterflies and pollinators. I am also working on bringing a Monarch VR experience to the festival to reduce the digital divide by offering a free, educational opportunity.
Please explain why you would like to serve on this committee.	I am eager to serve on this committee because this is a cause I believe in. I am educated about the issues at hand and have the passion, desire, work ethic, and intellectual capacity to make a difference. Every day I make changes to the way I live my life-saying no to single use plastics (even when I have to argue with the cashier at HEB), changing what toothbrush I buy, riding my bike instead of driving my car when I can, etc. But I know, based on research and common sense, that changes made by one person are not enough. We need the support of our government and our community leaders to make the appropriate decisions that will lead to the creation of a world my generation and the generations to come will be able to not only live, but grow, thrive, and love. I can't not take action. I am pushed by my heart to serve my community. I only hope I will have the opportunity to do so. Thank you for your time.
